Rlys begin 1st 'all-weather' underpass experiment

Abhishek Pathak

MUMBAI

In a first-of-its-kind initiative in the country, the railway authorities have started work on an 'all-weather subway' under the tracks in Bhiwandi to prevent deaths caused by illegal track crossing. The project, being executed by Mumbai Railway Vikas Corporation (MRVC), is expected to be completed before the monsoon and is being seen as a major step towards improving commuter safety on suburban rail routes.

At present, most railway stations rely on foot over-bridges located nearly seven to eight metres above the tracks. However, scores of commuters continue to cross tracks directly instead of using the bridges, leading to frequent accidents. Railway data shows that out of 26,547 deaths reported on tracks between 2015 and May 2025, nearly 14,175 people lost their lives while crossing railway lines.

The subway is being built around four metres below the

Waterproof subway to replace track crossing in Bhiwandi; MRVC aims to complete project before monsoon; designed to reduce track-crossing railway tracks and has been specially designed to function safely even during heavy rain. Unlike older subways that often face waterlogging and leakage issues, the Bhiwandi project will use a three-layer waterproofing system. Rubber gaskets are being installed at the joints of the box segments, while an SDP waterproofing membrane will prevent seepage inside the structure. To stop rain-water from entering, the entry and exit ramps have also been raised by 60cm.

Railway officials selected Bhiwandi for the pilot project because the route handles suburban, mail, express and freight train traffic across seven railway lines.

Authorities say if the experiment succeeds here, similar subways could be introduced at other locations across the country. Strong iron girders have also been installed beneath the tracks to ensure structural stability and safety during train movement.

The 68m-long subway will have a height of 2.5m and will be accessible to pedestrians as well as two-wheelers. However, iron barriers will be installed to prevent the entry of auto rickshaws and four-wheelers.

'Roll out e-tickets for water travel'

MUMBAI: The state minister for fisheries and ports, Nitesh Rane, has directed officials to fast-track an integrated online ticketing system for water transport across the Mumbai Metropolitan Region. During a review meeting at Mantralaya with the Maharashtra Maritime Board and transport department, Rane emphasised that digital solutions are essential to streamline operations for growing passenger numbers. The system aims to eliminate queues and improve transparency. Rane also sought staff training.

No bail for ex-corporator in laundering case

Charul Shah Joshi

MUMBAI

A special Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) court on Wednesday refused bail to Sitaram Gupta, a former corporator of the Bahujan Vikas Aghadi party. Gupta was arrested by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in connection with a money laundering case linked to illegal construction in Vasai-Virar.

Gupta's lawyer Mithilesh Mishra contended that his client served as a corporator for 18 years and was falsely implicated. He argued that the land-grabbing allegations date back to 2008, yet the Enforcement Case Information Report (ECIR) was registered 13 years later. He said no flayer lodged a complaint and there is no evidence that Gupta generated proceeds of crime in the predicate offence. ED prosecutor Kavita Patil opposed the plea, alleging an extensive conspiracy involving land grabbing and institutionalised bribery within the Vasai-Virar City Municipal Corporation (VVMC). The prosecution claimed that between 2006 and 2011, Gupta and his nephew occupied 60 acres of land using forged documents and force. They allegedly sold the land as plots and unauthorised buildings, generating ₹37.23 crore in proceeds of crime.

The court noted that Gupta was central to illegal dealings, targeting 30 acres of City and Industrial Development Corporation (CIDCO) land reserved for a sewage plant. Refusing bail, the court observed that record of the case suggests the generation of proceeds of crime from the predicate offence.

Plaint as 12 teachers skip census duty

Shreya Jachak

MUMBAI

The Thane Municipal Corporation (TMC) has filed a non-cognisable complaint at the Mumbai police station against 12 teachers from three schools for failing to report for census duty. The first phase of the census commenced on May 1, and the administration has begun mobilising personnel, including private school teachers, to carry out the exercise.

Assistant municipal commissioner Shivprasad Nagarjoge, who is in charge of the census in Diva, said the action was taken to ensure adequate participation amid a manpower crunch. "It was observed that several teachers were on leave as the exercise coincided with summer vacations. There was insufficient manpower, and we had to complete the work within a fixed timeline, which necessitated this step," he said. An official estimated Diva's population at over 7.5 lakh, requiring between 1,400 and 1,600 personnel to complete the exercise.

One of the schools involved said staffing issues had contributed to the absence

Nagarjoge added that teachers have been prioritised for census work as per directives from the Union home ministry. "It is a national duty. In the Diva region, there are limited government offices to draw staff from, making schools our primary resource. We have also sought participation from private school teachers," he said.

In the first phase, teachers are undergoing training for what will be the country's first fully digital census. They are being assigned batches to verify and register housing data, with submissions expected by the first week of June. The second phase is scheduled for next year.

Officials said the work offers flexibility, with no fixed reporting hours, and carries a cumulative remuneration of around ₹25,000 for both phases, higher than what is typically paid for election-related duties.

"We were also mindful about calling the teachers for duty, and schools have the option to choose the staff they send. Out of 1,600 required teachers only about a 100 teachers would have BLO duty; however, the attendance is significantly low," he said.

One of the schools involved said staffing issues had contributed to the absence. "While a few teachers assigned to census duty had resigned, others were on leave contributing to the staffing issue. The issue has now been resolved and alternate teachers have been deputed," a representative said.
